- 25X1A 1. During the past week [REDACTED] 92,872 bags of coffee were exported to [US] East and West Coast ports and to Europe. From the interior 78,874 bags moved down into port, and present port stocks now total 88,141 bags. There is quite a bit of space in all export warehouses and more should be available shortly, with the termination of crops in the interior and the consequent reduced movement to port. At the end of today's [REDACTED] work period there were forty railroad cars and fifty trucks pending discharge, but these will be handled tomorrow [REDACTED].
2. The railroad lines were tied up by landslides which blocked traffic along this route for forty-eight hours. Apart from this, transportation services remained normal throughout the period, with both railroad and highway facilities handling a normal flow of cargo to and from port.
